CONTENTS

Acknowledgments xi

Introduction 1

Jeffrey W. Rubin
Vivienne Bennett

1. Social Polarization and Economic Instability: 27
   Twin Challenges for Enduring Reform
   Ann Helwege

2. Rethinking the Revolution: 53
   Latin American Social Movements and the State in the Twenty-First Century Wendy Wolford

3. The Urban Indigenous Movement and Elite Accommodation 81 in San Cristóbal, Chiapas, Mexico, 1975–2008:
   “Tenemos que vivir nuestros años”
   “We Have to Live in Our Own Times”
   Jan Rus
   Gaspar Morquecho Escamilla

4. Democracy by Invitation: 113
   The Private Sector’s Answer to Participatory Budgeting in Porto Alegre, Brazil
   Jeffrey W. Rubin
   Sergio Gregorio Baierle

5. Recuperated Factories in Contemporary Buenos Aires 147 from the Perspective of Workers and Businessmen
   Carlos A. Forment
6. Both Sides Now:
The Rise of Migrant Activism and Co-investment in Public Works in Zacatecas, Mexico
Heather Williams
Fernando Robledo Martínez

7. When Cultural Activists Speak a Business Language:
Success on the Stage, Applause in the Boardroom, and the Difficulties of Scaling Up Social Change in Rio’s Favelas
Jeffrey W. Rubin

8. Business Responses to Progressive Activism in Twenty-First-Century Latin America
Vivienne Bennett and Jeffrey W. Rubin

Appendix. Enduring Reform Project, Interview Template
Contributors
Index