

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction: The “Megarhetorics” of Global Development J. Blake Scott and Rebecca Dingo	1
Part I. Extending Rhetorical Concepts and Methods
Chapter 1. Tracking “Transglocal” Risks in Pharmaceutical Development: Novartis’s Challenge of Indian Patent Law J. Blake Scott	29
Chapter 2. Meeting the Challenge of Globalization: President Clinton’s “Double Movement” Discourse Jason A. Edwards and Jaime L. Wright	54
Chapter 3. Ethos in a Bottle: Corporate Social Responsibility and Humanitarian Doxa D. Robert DeChaine	75

Chapter 4. Developmental Shifts: Changing Feelings about Compassion in Korea
Matt Newcomb	101
Chapter 5. Staging the Beijing Olympics: Intersecting Human Rights and Economic Development Narratives
Tim Jensen and Wendy S. Hesford	121
Part II. Building Counter-Rhetorics of Resistance
Chapter 6. Framing the Megarhetorics of Agricultural Development: Industrialized Agriculture and Sustainable Agriculture
Eileen E. Schell	149
Chapter 7. Turning the Tables on the Megarhetoric of Women's Empowerment
Rebecca Dingo	174
Chapter 8. Making the Case: Bamako and the Problem of Anti-Imperial Art
Bret Benjamin	199
Chapter 9. Enfreakment; or, Aliens of Extraordinary Disability
Robert McRuer	233
Contributors	253
Index	257